

News from Mac Keith Press

- Ann-Marie Halligan, Managing Director

Developmental Medicine and Child Neurology continues to attract high quality papers – look out for an email coming shortly which reminds you how to sign up for content alerts. Can't wait? See the end of the section for a quick reminder.

If you have not visited the DMCN Channel on YouTube, then check out www.youtube.com/user/DMCNvideos as soon as you can. You will see Hilary Johnson and Alberto Tozzi among others talking about their papers, and you can hear discussions of a range of key papers and topics – just click 'Subscribe' to join the channel.

We are continuing to see excellent growth in the readership for the journal, with the number of people downloading articles increasing significantly year on year – in the first half of 2012 there were almost half a million downloads of full articles. More libraries than ever have access to our content. Recently, new agreements were reached with libraries in China, Lithuania, Romania, Ecuador and Mexico to give even greater coverage for the journal.

Looking for online access to Mac Keith Press book titles? Encourage your librarian to subscribe to our books via Ebrary or via Ebsco where we are expanding the way you can review and purchase material online.
