Developmental Medicine & Child Neurology

We host a broad range of podcasts which continue to be a popular and engaging information outlet.

Author podcasts: Authors are invited to submit a short video discussing their recently published DMCN article. This free and interactive service adds a personal touch to the research, making it a highly valued platform for broadcasting the information.

Editor podcasts: Bernard Dan, our Editor in Chief, invites a guest to discuss his bi-monthly editorial. The conversation often goes beyond the conventional realms of DMCN, as guests push the debate to new corners whilst also explaining some of the projects they have been working on.

Spanish & Portuguese podcasts: Our partnership with ALDID continues to flourish and the popularity of the translated abstracts is being reinforced with Spanish & Portuguese podcasts on DMCN Virtual Issues.
